

The Black Revolution on Campus: Transformation of Higher Education

A Keynote Address for the Eighth Annual Conference of the Triangle African American History Colloquium

The Place of Education in African American History and Culture

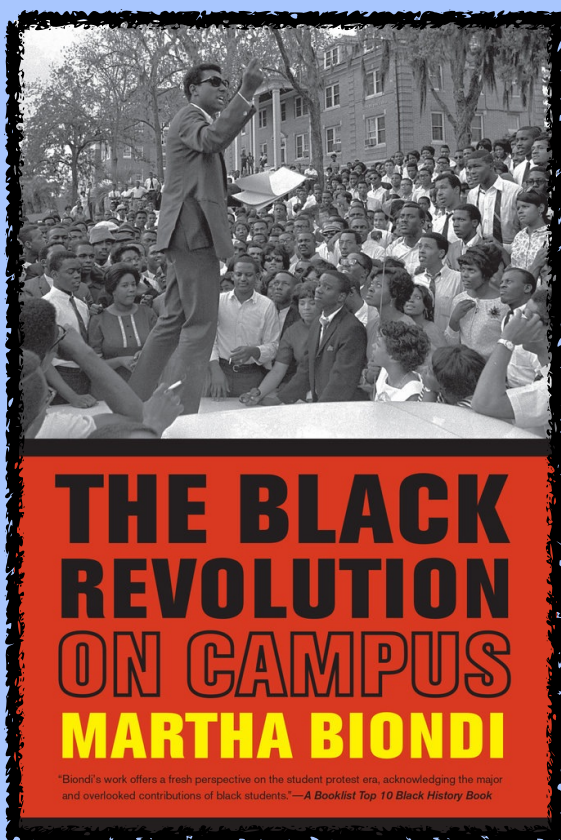

Photo courtesy of the University of California Press

Martha Biondi

*Chair and Professor of African American Studies
Professor of History
Northwestern University*

Friday, February 28, 2014 at 5 p.m.
Pleasants Family Assembly Room
Wilson Library, UNC-Chapel Hill

The History Department, the Center for the Study of the American South, and the Institute of African American Research have provided funding for this conference. This event funded at least in part by Student Fees, which were appropriated and dispersed by the Student Government at UNC-Chapel Hill.

taahc.unc.edu